

ANTI-GRIPPE TABLETS.

There is no guess work about this remarkable cold cure. They cure colds, grippe and dengue quicker than any other known remedy.

Another important thing to know about them is, they are safe to take; they will not cause ringing in the ears or nervousness.

During the siege of dengue there was an immense sale for them as far as we know no one had the dengue if they took Anti-Grippe Tablets at the first symptom. In one house where there were twenty-four people only one had dengue. He didn't take the tablets, the others did and broke the disease up at the very start. Anti-Grippe Tablets have a sale in many parts of the world. Read this

CELEBRATING "THE FOURTH"

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES AT THE CAPITOL GROUNDS—JUDGE H. E. HIGHTON DELIVERS ADDRESS.

The Capitol square was the scene of yesterday's patriotic exercises and as a result a large crowd gathered there during the afternoon. The Oahu band discoursed sweet music for about an hour and then shortly after four o'clock Acting Governor Atkinson accompanied by Judge Henry E. Highton and Commander Lucien Young took his place on the rostrum which for the day was the band stand.

Governor Atkinson, who presided throughout opened the proceedings with a few well chosen words and Rev. O. H. Gulick led in prayer. The Ellis Glee Club sang "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean" after which Hon. W. J. Coelho read the Declaration of Independence. W. S. Ellis sang "My Own United States" with excellent effect and was followed by Commander Lucien Young who made a rattling patriotic speech.

The orator of the day was Judge Highton who said in part:

"Prior to the Civil War, the Fourth of July was largely devoted to a provincial type of patriotism that was exuberant and almost rampant. The mane of the British lion was plucked and its tail twisted simultaneously in so many different ways that its insular unconsciousness of the process was its only security for continued existence. The features of King George III. were resurrected into satanic combinations and confronted by the majestic face of George Washington. Blue streaks rising towards the sky typified the welts left on the body of parliamentary tyranny."

"Now the days of brag and bluster are over. The development of the nation is so great, and its standing among the powers so firmly established, that patriotism finds its vent in calm satisfaction, occasionally rippled by criticism. The United States and the British empire, without formal alliance are side by side, and other associates, among whom the Japanese empire is conspicuous, are joining the combination that holds the world, including the mighty progress of the Pacific and of the Orient, within its grasp."

"Human activity and aspiration have broadened, through education, aided by steam and by electricity, until the ends of the earth have been brought together. The composite race, speaking the English language, and ranged under the American and the British flags, is a blend of the rich blood of the Celt with the blood and iron of the Saxon and the fine arterial system of the Norman. Subdivisions of races can no longer claim prominence. The deep, and in some respects impassable chasm is between the Caucasian and the Mongolian."

"The chief purpose of government, of which President Roosevelt has shown the deepest consciousness, should be to give fair play to brains, to energy and to integrity. The extirpation of bigotry and an era of general toleration were and are essential to progress. Liberty could not exist, if individuals and minorities, if property as well as men, were not protected. The increase of industrial population, the use of diversified resources, the elevation of the starved and ignorant, multiplied under political forms that concentrated authority in individuals and in privileged classes, mental enlightenment, the emancipation and the uplifting of the soul, would be impracticable, in any genuine and durable sense if rational majorities, if settled public opinion, were not the chief factors in human affairs. Constitutional law, justly interpreted and impartially applied, and the ballot, honestly and intelligently cast, are the safest guarantees for that regulated and disciplined freedom, which alone can foster a civilization, sound at its core and fairly clean on its surface."

"These points in human advancement are emblazoned on that national history, which is the inheritance and the possession of the American people. Self-governing and self-supporting men and women, impelled by the law of altruism more even than by the demands of the body self-governing and self-supporting counties and municipalities, self-governing and self-supporting States, mainly self-governing and mainly self-supporting territories, a self-governing and self-supporting nation, dedicated to the arts of peace but prepared for the exigencies of war, are the shining coronation that the American Union has placed before the eyes of yearning humanity."

"Government, rightly understood, in all its departments is an instrumental-
